Legislative Counsel's Digest of Assembly Amendments

SB 1058, as it passed the Senate, provided, for purposes of a writ of habeas corpus, that false evidence includes opinions of experts that have either been repudiated by the expert who originally provided the opinion at a hearing or trial or that have been undermined by later scientific research or technological advances.

The Assembly amendments provide that the bill's provisions do not create additional liabilities, beyond those already recognized, for an expert who repudiates his or her original opinion or whose opinion has been undermined by later scientific research or technological advancements.

S.B. No. 1274—Hancock et al.

An act relating to recycling.

Legislative Counsel's Digest of Assembly Amendments

SB 1274, as it passed the Senate, required on or before July 1, 2017, and annually thereafter, an operator of a solid waste facility or operation to report to the Department of Resources Recycling and Recovery, if requested, regarding the number of used mattresses received by that facility that were recycled, renovated, or disposed of within the state, as provided. The bill defined “solid waste facility” as that defined under existing law.

The Assembly amendments require on or before May 1, 2017, and annually thereafter, the operator to report to the department and to the mattress recycling organization regarding the number of used mattresses received by that facility or operation that were recycled, renovated, or disposed of within the state, as provided. The assembly amendments also define “solid waste facility” as that defined under existing law and that accepts used mattresses from the public, as provided. The Assembly amendments also require, on or after May 1, 2017, and annually thereafter a person who is engaged in business as a recycler or renovator to submit to the department and to the mattress recycling organization a report that includes specified information.

S.B. No. 1276—Hernandez.

An act relating to health care billing.

Legislative Counsel's Digest of Assembly Amendments

SB 1276, as it passed the Senate, required a hospital and an emergency physician to use a reasonable payment plan for a financially qualified patient, as defined, if the hospital or the emergency physician and the patient cannot agree to a payment plan. The bill defined “reasonable payment plan” as monthly payments that are not more than 10% of a patient’s family income for a month, excluding deductions for essential living expenses, which are defined as rent or house payment and maintenance, food and household supplies, utilities and telephone, clothing, medical and dental payments, insurance, school or child care, child or spousal support, transportation and auto expenses, including insurance, gas, and repairs, installment payments, laundry and cleaning, and other extraordinary expenses.

The Assembly amendments change the term a “reasonable payment plan” to a “reasonable payment formula,” in regards to an emergency physician discount payment policy, and delete the requirement that an emergency physician use a reasonable payment plan for a financially qualified patient if the emergency physician and the patient cannot agree to a payment plan. The Assembly amendments instead require an emergency physician to apply the reasonable payment formula if the qualifying patient wishes to renegotiate the terms of a defaulted extended payment plan and no agreement can be reached on the amount of the payment, and require the extended payment plan to be $10 per month if the reasonable payment formula would result in a payment of less than $10 per month. The Assembly amendments provide that if a patient who has defaulted on an extended payment plan and entered into another extended payment plan with payments in the amount of either the reasonable payment formula or $10 per month fails to make all consecutive payments due during a 90-day period, then that extended payment plan would be inoperative. The Assembly amendments authorize the emergency physician or his or her assignee to rely on the determination of family income and essential living expenses made by the hospital at which emergency care was provided and authorizes the emergency physician or his or her assignee to accept self-attestation of family income and living expenses by a patient or a patient’s legal representative when determining the reasonable payment formula.
